ALBERTUS MAGNUS COLLEGE RECEIVES NATIONAL ACCLAIM

(New Haven, CT, August 7, 2018)— Already honored as a College of Distinction for its personal approach to education, Albertus Magnus College has received program-specific recognition in Business and Education based on four categories: Engaged Students, Great Teaching, Vibrant Communities, and Successful Outcomes.

Today's job market is growing more complex every day, requiring the modern worker to be not only knowledgeable, but also apt at communication and vigilant in the face of new challenges. Albertus Magnus's expansive values- and liberal arts-based curriculum, when combined with its focus on experiential opportunities, prepares students to successfully meet these needs and to take on the post-graduate world.

Dr. Marc M. Camille, president of Albertus Magnus College, said "We are pleased to be included among Colleges of Distinction and to receive additional recognition for our Education and Business programs. External recognition such as this affirms what we know to be true about the Albertus Magnus College education delivered by the College's dedicated faculty: it is transformative, a door opener for students that is life-changing."

Colleges of Distinction has spent nearly two decades advocating for institutions that prioritize the overall undergraduate experience with a hands-on, thorough liberal arts education. Its unique selection process evaluates each school holistically, going beyond typical rankings lists to acknowledge the everyday opportunities for students to engage actively with their peers, professors, and respective areas of study.

"Albertus Magnus College continues to impress with its exceptional commitment to student success," said Tyson Schritter, chief operating officer for Colleges of Distinction. "Its extensive liberal arts curriculum informs and enriches everything students do both in and out of the classroom. With such an involved engagement of high-impact practices, Albertus continues to go the extra mile in professional education."

Albertus received two Field of Study badges for its Education and Business programs. Field of Study badges are true marks of honor in the world of higher education, representing programs that invest in student engagement in fields that demand innovative, critical thinking. Colleges of Distinction has granted these awards after a comprehensive vetting process, individually selecting schools based on such qualities as accreditation, breadth of program, and a track record for success.

Education: Albertus Magnus College's future educators are bolstered by an enriching liberal arts perspective, allowing them to be empathetic, creative, and efficient mentors for their students. Albertus offers an approved, pre-professional education program which leads to initial teacher certification in a number of subject area endorsements.
