Criminal Justice Camp

Albertus held its first Criminal Justice Camp on Wednesday, June 30, for 68 rising high school juniors and seniors interested in the criminal justice field; students came from 35 towns in Connecticut, Rhode Island and Massachusetts. Hosted by the Office of

Thank You Alumni!

The 2009-2010 Albertus Annual Fund ended June 30. The College is deeply grateful to the many alumni who so generously supported this year's Fund. Special thanks go to members of classes ending in 0 and 5 who made gifts in honor of milestone reunions this year and to the classes of 1957, 1958 and 1959 who continue to contribute to their previously established endowed scholarship funds.

85th Anniversary

During the 2010-2011 academic year, the College will celebrate the 85th anniversary of its founding in 1925 by the Dominican Sisters of Saint Mary of the Springs (now known as the Dominican Sisters of Peace). Keep an eye on your inbox and mailbox for information about the many events planned for this special year.

Are You Ready?

As a graduate of the College you know firsthand what makes Albertus special. You know our innovative, flexible approach to learning and our commitment to helping students discover their potential. If you are thinking about graduate school, now may be the right time to check our programs, which range from management to education to art therapy, from liberal studies to leadership to writing. Explore the options at your alma mater.

The new semester begins August 23, and we're waiving the application fee for Albertus Magnus alumni who enroll in a graduate program this fall. Learn more at Next-Step. Or call us today at 203-773-8518.

Let Us Know

If you received an advanced degree this year, please let us know. Grant-making foundations often want to know the percentage of alumni who go on to receive advanced degrees. It's quick and easy to do an online update, and you also can let us know about address changes, and any other news you would like to share for use in alumni publications.

Admission and Michael Geary, J.D., coordinator of criminal justice programs at the College, the Camp gave students the opportunity to talk with professionals in the field, including Albertus alumni. The free one-day event featured sessions on the dynamics of police training, police support services and crime scene evaluation. On hand were representatives of local SWAT and bomb teams, State and local police and a support services helicopter and its crew.

Student Represents Albertus at Fanjeaux Institute

For the first time a student has represented the College at a summer study program in Fanjeaux, France, where St. Dominic, founder of the Dominican Order, lived from 1206 to 1215. Rising senior Jennifer Kordek, a history major, was among 30 faculty members, staff and students from 11 Dominican colleges and universities taking part in the three-week session on the life and times of St. Dominic. Robert Hubbard, associate professor of computer science, represented the College at the 2008 session, and Robert Bourgeois, associate professor of social sciences, did so last.
