The Mission of Albertus Magnus College

STATEMENT OF MISSION

The mission of Albertus Magnus College is to provide men and women with an education that promotes the search for truth in all its dimensions and is practical in its application. Founded by the Dominican Sisters of Saint Mary of the Springs, Albertus Magnus College, faithful to its Catholic heritage and the Judeo-Christian tradition, remains dedicated to providing an opportunity for learning which responds to the academic needs and ethical challenges of its students and of society.

This mission of Albertus Magnus College derives from the intellectual tradition of the Dominican Order whose essential charism is the search for truth (Veritas). Reflective of the dedication and commitment to service of our founder and sponsor, we at Albertus assume responsibility for the fulfillment of our particular service as an academic community.

Dear Alumni and Friends,

This fall we arrived at a wonderful moment in our history: the 85th Anniversary of the founding of Albertus Magnus College by the dedicated Dominican Sisters of St. Mary of the Springs. The Sisters of Peace, their successor congregation, continues to sponsor the College. We are grateful to the Dominicans for the unwavering confidence they have placed in us over these many decades.

During our year-long celebration of this 85TH ANNIVERSARY, we honor our past, promote our present and proclaim our future. Ours is a rich story in which tradition, excellence and innovation blend seamlessly as we carry out our mission of providing an education that fosters the search for truth in all its dimensions and is practical in its application.

Providing the blueprint for the College’s future is our dynamic 2009–2014 Strategic Plan: New Initiatives for a New Decade. A major component of this plan is the Rosary Project, which will renovate interior space in the LIBRARY AT ROSARY HALL, transforming it into a state-of-the-art, contemporary library providing the necessities and amenities required of a 21st-century information center serving the needs of students and faculty of all programs.

In the past year, we have expanded the scope of our graduate programs with the addition of the Master of Fine Arts in Writing and the Master of Science in Human Services. On the undergraduate level, we have added new programs as well, including the Bachelor of Arts in Global Studies, which promotes understanding of the impact of globalization on today’s increasingly complex world.

In 2025, just 15 short years away, we shall mark the centennial of this extraordinary institution. In the meantime, we continue CHANGING LIVES for our students and their families through excellent and innovative educational programs. Throughout this report, you will find stories from our graduates, telling of the impact Albertus has had on them; their heartfelt words give life to our mission of service and inspire us as we grow in our role in higher education. Have you shared your story?*

Faithfully yours,

Dr. Julia M. McNamara, President

*To share your story, send it to alumni@albertus.edu or to the Office of Alumni Relations, Albertus Magnus College, 700 Prospect Street, New Haven, CT 06511.
Albertus is deeply grateful to its donors, especially our graduates who care so passionately about alma mater, and to those alumni and friends who have thoughtfully included the College in their estate planning.
—Julia M. McNamara

It was very important to me personally and professionally to complete my studies and obtain my degree. I’m very proud to be the first in my immediate family to have graduated with a four-year degree, and to be the first student from New Dimensions to give remarks at the College’s Laurel night ceremonies.

I feel so fortunate to have attended Albertus. It set the tone for the rest of my life. Although I hadn’t intended to teach, Albertus provided me with all the tools: intellectual curiosity, empathy, leadership and a sense of adventure. After graduation, I spent two years teaching in Nigeria and then over 30 years at Eastchester High School in N.Y., where I specialized in global studies and humanities. I was fortunate to have had numerous grants in India, Southeast Asia and Japan, which solidified my interest in travel. It all started with Albertus!

Whenever anyone disparages a liberal arts education, I am a staunch defender. I always have been.

At AMC, I did not learn what to think; I learned how to think. As a result of that, I have crafted a fulfilling 35-year career in the field of spinal cord injury medicine, which I could never have envisioned when I received my Albertus diploma. I had always hoped that I was destined to make a difference in the world. Thanks in part to my four years at AMC, I have been able to do that.

Celebrating 85 Years

ALBERTUS MAGNUS COLLEGE has an extraordinarily rich history, one that is deeply rooted in our Catholic and Dominican heritage and the Judeo-Christian tradition. Here, we honor our past, promote our present and proclaim our future. Here, scholarship and lifelong learning are prized.

Tradition and innovation blend seamlessly at Albertus, inspiring excellence in all we do. The greatest innovation in the history of Albertus Magnus College is the creation of the institution itself. Visionary and courageous Dominican Sisters responded to a comment made by the mother of a young woman, about to enter college, that there was no Catholic liberal arts residential college for women in the New Haven area, or in all of New England. The Sisters saw an opportunity to be of service and created a college unique to its time and place. This commitment to new thinking, to thinking outside the box, has endured across generations of distinguished faculty members and their students of all ages in undergraduate and, now, graduate programs. The endless search for truth in all its dimensions is the hallmark of the Albertus education, which is practical in its application.

TRADITION since 1925
My personal story of development is a “work in progress” as I feel that we all have the responsibility to improve ourselves throughout our lives.

My epiphany came nearly ten years ago after a personal tragedy forced me to realize I was very much alone.

My career was going nowhere. I enrolled in the MBA program and felt I was given a new lease on life. The professors were smart, supportive and inspiring.

The Albertus Magnus MBA degree helped me obtain a much more lucrative position, but more importantly, from an emotional perspective it made me feel that I could not just stand on my own, but that I could excel!

I completed my first internship at UCONN as part of the Northeast Alliance Research Experience for Undergraduates the summer after my freshman year. I had no significant laboratory experience, yet I wanted to have a productive summer. As an intern at the School of Pharmacy, I spent 10 weeks conducting research, acquiring skills essential for graduate school, networking, making friends, and having a lot of fun! I returned to UCONN this past summer to continue my research.

As an undergraduate, I had the privilege of attending Albertus Magnus College, where I was more than just a number. The faculty members care about the students and are eager to offer their assistance. Albertus is a college that stands by its mission statement, ensuring that its students are well-rounded, and are provided with a quality education. Because of my wonderful experience at AMC, I enrolled in the Master of Science in Human Services program. If you are looking for personal attention and a quality education, Albertus Magnus College is the school for you.

In 2007, I received my Bachelor’s degree through the Accelerated Degree Program. Since I loved my time at Albertus, I decided to check out the Master of Arts degree in Leadership. Once I was in this program, I found that it went beyond my expectations; it jolted my thinking and gave me so much more confidence in myself. I felt transformed. Four months after getting my Master’s degree, I received a promotion to account and educational specialist providing training workshops at Yale New Haven Health System.

I teach Algebra, Geometry, and Pre-Calculus courses to students in grades 9 – 12 at Amity High School, District #5, in Woodbridge, CT. I chose the Master of Science in Education degree at Albertus Magnus College because the objectives and courses in the program aligned with the initiatives of my school district. I felt that the program would make me more knowledgeable as an educator and, at the same time, make me a valuable asset for my district. As I move through the program, I like the fact that what I am learning can be applied in my own classroom, and it also provides me with a better understanding of district, state, and national objectives in terms of what and how I teach. The M.S.Ed. program is a great personal and professional experience for me.
The education program has prepared me to look forward with confidence to having my own classroom. The hands-on field work hours are the most valuable part of the program in my eyes. There is no way that a lecture can simulate the situations that you will be working with in real life. Even other teachers that I have worked with are thoroughly impressed with the amounts of hours a student at AMC accrues in the classroom prior to student teaching.

As an older undergraduate at Albertus, I often felt unsure of my path. Given my age, I felt I should be certain the direction I was heading in was the right one, as the opportunity for change might not come again. My senior practicum made the difference. It gave me new perspective, allowed me to grow in ways I had not thought possible and increased my confidence. Book knowledge is always necessary and important, but first-hand experience is priceless!

Carol Spinello

In 2005, I was a member of the College’s first cohort in a program for qualified educators that provides an alternative route for certification as a literacy specialist in reading and language arts. I completed the Advanced Alternative Preparation Program in 2006. At the time, I was a first-grade teacher at John B. Sliney School in Branford, CT, and I soon was appointed to the position of literacy specialist. I continue to work with students, coach classroom teachers and model literacy instruction. My performance in the AAP Program plus my experience as a teacher and a literacy specialist led to my appointment to the staff here at Albertus as an AAP advisor, as well as a Saturday seminar presenter on Teaching Literacy/Reading K–12.

Katherine Golias ’11

Growing up as a first-generation American, I was taught that education is the gateway to success. Because my parents were not able to obtain the education they desired, they emphasized the value of learning and reminded me that higher education is not always easily available to everyone worldwide.

I was drawn to the Liberal Studies program at Albertus Magnus because it is designed to meet the needs of a student who wants an interdisciplinary, broad-based graduate education rather than specializing in a single discipline. As a mother and working professional, the flexibility of a liberal arts education with evening classes appealed to me. Through the program, I confronted many issues and was able to explore the social, humanistic and scientific dimensions of our world. I believe that the Master of Arts in Liberal Studies program has provided me with the skills necessary to enhance my ability to contribute to the quality of both my personal and professional life. This education has nurtured a habit of lifelong learning, which, in return, will lead me to live a fully rewarding and responsible life.

Andre Wilson ’11

Perhaps the most important thing any college student can do is participate in internship. While interning at the Department of Finance for the City of New Haven, I gained real world experience you can’t get in the classroom. Based on my internship performance, I was offered a paid position. Looking back over the past four years, I am glad I chose AMC. I received a quality education and am ready for an entry level position in my field.

The Next 85 Years

IF THE PAST IS BUT PROLOGUE TO THE FUTURE, the next 85 years for Albertus Magnus College will continue to be bright, indeed. In 1925, our “one-room schoolhouse” was the elegant 50-room mansion known as “Ten Acres,” which housed the College’s classrooms, dormitory rooms, dining hall, library, chapel and lodging for the Dominican Sisters in the renamed Rosary Hall. Today, our beloved Library at Rosary Hall, always the traditional heart of the campus, is undergoing an interior renovation to transform it into a 21st century contemporary library and information common, enhanced by state-of-the-art technology and welcoming amenities. It is fitting that the magnificent columned façade, the backdrop for decades of joyous commencement ceremonies, now becomes the symbolic entryway to the future. The architectural plans shown on this page are the original 1904 drawings for Rosary Hall; the new look will reflect the needs of a modern educational institution, vibrant and focused on the future.

The value of a liberal arts education comes into sharper focus as the years pass since graduation. The ability to write, think and reason is the true virtue of those who graduate from AMC. I have come to appreciate this more and more over the years.

Laura Lupoli ’84
Albertus is like a family, truly a community. I was impressed with the amount of care my professor showed for me. He made all of us feel that he was setting us up for success. I felt he really understood the challenges I was facing, working a nine-hour day. College offers you an array of opportunities; there are certain jobs that you will not even get an opportunity to apply for if you don’t have a degree. You can start with just one course; you will eventually get there.
